

Why do we get eggs at Easter?

At Easter we usually get eggs that are made of chocolate. These eggs are normally empty inside and this is for a special reason. The empty egg helps us think about when Mary found that Jesus was not in his tomb but had come back to life.

Before chocolate eggs were given at Easter people painted chicken eggs to use to decorate their houses. People in Romania still decorate chicken eggs for Easter today.

Can you paint a chicken egg to decorate your house over Easter?
